

Expertise, Discipline and Cooperation

Paul Solomon Reading 0071- L - 0044 - FA - 0001, November 12, 1972

Question I: You have before you (Name), born June 11, 1946, and will answer the questions and give instructions regarding my work on the physical plane, my creative service.

Answer 1: Yes, we have the body and those records and witnesses of the relationship with Universal Forces. Now we find this one coming into incarnation from the realms of Mercury where there was the gathering together of that which has been the experience of past incarnations, that it might be analytically assimilated; that is, filed or stored in memory banks in mannerisms which may be used in the development of mankind in this century. For we could find that it would be the purpose of this one to apply those laws that would bring together the laws of physics, as you have called the study or the discipline, with those laws of the nature, or the Laws of God, with those that would be the spiritual laws.

For it has been realized, but it has not been developed that there is interplay, inter-relationship between those that you consider the spiritual laws of the use of spiritual energies and that which would be the patterns of mathematical functions or mathematical equivalents. And it is not that this one would have the ability to work with the numerical values, but it would be seen that a part of the discipline of this lifetime would be the ability to cooperate with those who may assimilate these values and may interpret the numerical functions and bring these ideas into play, that this one would be the builder. That is to say it would be given in this manner: That there have been gathered in this Fellowship three who were a part of the building of that which has been called the Great Pyramid.

It would be seen that these then would cooperate together in the understanding of the powers inherent in the pyramidal function. There would be one, then, who would have the memory, the inherent memory, of the power, the feel of the pyramid shape, particularly of that particular pyramid at Giza, and those underlying structures. It would be his purpose, then, his value, to realize that that which lies below ground surface as the foundation is important to the field, the energy pattern, the power of the shape within the pyramid, and we would see one as has been referred as Jason, as being valuable in this system, in this area.

Now, we would find in cooperation that one who understands the numerical division; that is, the volume, the values numerically, as that one in your Fellowship that you have called, and his cooperation with this one in construction would be essential in interpreting, in finding those levels that would produce complete power or would concentrate the energy of geometric shapes, as would be found in the interest of this.

We would see, then, that these abilities, these gifts have been divided for a purpose, as all the perfect plans of God work according to purpose to all those who are called according to His Name and to His plan. That one would be given one ability that would not function without the cooperation of the other. For the teaching of the Law of One, for the pyramid is of no value unless there be understood that which is the peak of the pyramid or that which all power centers from, that would be the bringing of all energies, all powers together, for herein lies the power of the pyramid as it centers on the God Force.

Then where would be the comparison of that which has been referred as the Geodesic Dome, with that which would be the pyramid shape? We would see it in this manner: That both would bring into play great sources, great forces, great pulls of energy. The pyramidal shape, then, would concentrate that energy, bring it to a point and point toward the Law of One. The geodesic shape, as has been called, or the dome, would spread that energy that is concentrated in its center over a wider force field.

Now, if there is the turning back in the memory toward that crystal of Atlantis mounted, as it were, on the pyramid, and focused through the pyramidal shape, there will be the understanding that for the spreading of the pyramid, or those crystals, those facets of the crystal, over the geodesic shape, there was brought into the play the great healing service that would spread over a wide portion of the land. Where there would be the need to concentrate or to focus this energy, there was used then the pyramid shape.

Now in the study for this one, we would instruct that the pyramid shape would be studied, that there would be located that level of the King's Chamber that would be the focal point of power and would be brought into play, that there would be constructed the geodesic shape with the pyramidal frame resting over it. For we would find that these combinations in both those temples that you have called the Temple of Sacrifice and the Temple Beautiful, for though the exterior was the pyramidal shape, the interior was the ovoid, the egg shape, the geodesic dome resting inside the pyramid, and herein lies the source of all power on your plane.

Now understand, not only the structural values of these geometric shapes, but understand those laws that apply to them, for all are contained in the Law of One.

That which would be the purpose, then, and the application of the life of this one would be in interpreting, in discovering, and putting to practical use these laws concerning the pyramid inch, the pyramid shape and power, that history that is given, the history of initiation through the pyramids. And we would find developing in this the ability to cooperate with others, not always to be the leader, but the one asking, the one seeking, the one cooperating in love.

We would find the great need for discipline in seeking, in learning those things that are not easily available to the fingertips, for there must be a great deal of research in this area, and the application of mathematical abilities, and the cooperation between persons. See this all for a purpose: The development of the character, of the personality, of the ministry, for many will be reached through these developments and the use of these experiments.

Question 2: I have had visions. One regarding the earth and four guardians What should I know about why I had the visions and what should I do with them, if their energies still apply?

Answer 2: We would have you see that which came in the manner of four corners, four powers, four elements, four energy sources, each holding with both hands, leaning back from the earth, holding and tugging on a chord attached to the earth, and we would see these being interpreted in this manner: That through the center, through the stress that has put on the center, all power of the four elements is concentrated in the center where the two ropes are chained would cross. See this, then, as the key to that which you would build. It was given for this purpose.

Question 3. What is my connection with space beings and higher law? I feel that maybe all of this is connected with mastery of the lower planes.

Answer 3: Now we would find the tearing in the center of the heart of this one concerning the necessity to gather all as has been given, that this came into incarnation from the realms of Mercury and from the past experiences of that sojourn in Egypt when this one was a laborer with Ra and Hermes in the building of the Great Pyramid to that time when this one walked the earth planes in the time of the Master, and was there called Tertius, and was a writer of the Scriptures as you have them recorded.

This one was a scribe, and went from that realm to the realms of Mercury, that there might be gathered the information from these many incarnations as the builder, the putter-together, the worker, the recorder of those as would be the mathematical or the scientific laws concerning relationship to God, for this one as Tertius was a writer for the Apostle Paul who structured that which was the teaching of the Master, which came as mystic or esoteric, and this one was a scribe for that Apostle who broke it down into the more forms of the law of the scientific methods. As seen in past incarnations for this one, and coming to the present incarnation, then, there would be sought the ability to translate that which would come as emotion, that which would come as memory, that which would come as love; to break it down into mathematical concepts, to equations, to scientific law, for this one has a great deal of ability to realize that all things work according to the Laws of God.

Now this feeling concerning space beings should be understood in this manner: That only may that term be used to re-late to your understanding of this period in time. That is, that you may know that those entities that come from the future and who exist in the future are those entities who travel through space and use space in the past. Not that they are repeating; they were and are still. Understand then that that which you see as future beings or space beings are reflections of yourself See them as such. See this as higher manifestations or that which is occurring on inner planes, being brought into present that you may relate to that which is coming, that there may be the preparation therefore. It is then, as has been questioned, for the purpose of relating all through laws to the development of the lower plane or, that is, as has been given, a preparation for the Day of Our Lord.

Now it should be given here, that when there is released within the self the necessity for being the discoverer of this blessing, then the blessing may be given. That is to be said in this manner: When it becomes less important that I do this work and more important that this work may be done, there will be the realizing of the opportunity, for this is the discipline that need be developed in this entity.

As has been given for all those of the Atlantean incarnations, this day, this time is given that you may develop that discipline of patience that was your undoing in the past. Now realize that time and space do not exist. Patience does. You think of time and space as dimension, but I say to you that patience is dimension. You say that you are limited by time and space. I say to you that you are limited only by patience. Understand patience. If you would develop faith, love, strength, understanding, but have not patience, you would not be able to apply that which you know and have developed. This is Universal Truth.

Open thine heart to understanding that you may give, for many will come into your presence to feel the warm vibrations from this heart whose capacity for love is infinite. Realize the value of your vibrations in this temple in which you devote well, for this particular one has a vibrational value that is a manifestation of the purple or violet ray, that would cause a universal love to sweep into the heart of anyone that you touched. Those who do not react are those who do not understand. See self as an instrument of understanding. Be not afraid to touch; be not afraid to love all those who would come into your presence.

Question 4: Is there more that you might indicate about which I should know for my growth and development at this time?

Answer 4: Now that which is being asked in the heart of the seeker at this moment is the question concerning healing, and will be given in this manner: That which you ask and that which you have asked for is granted in this moment, but you would be only part of those who would share in the healing, and the power will not rest in the center of you, but in your connection, in your vibration, in the sharing with others, and it is being given that you would be the focal point for the power as you seek to be of service. Now realize this is being given as opportunity for the drawing together of forces.

Those who have been spoken of, that you would work with in the development of the use of power from geometric shapes, have already been met; have come into the life. As there is the dedication to this work and for this purpose, instruction will be given, for I am Ramar; I am He who visits with thee, and you may turn often within and ask that Ramar speak and all that need to be known of these records from the beginning of time will come into your heart, even during those periods of sleep when you have entered into the Inner planes.

Bring discipline into this life, for there are the many who wait on inner planes to give direction, but we are hindered in this manner: That if there would be set aside a period of time each day, at exactly the same time, there would be the abilities to do that work that must be done on inner planes and to meet with you according to your schedule. See this as part of the reason for discipline, and as you come in meditation, at your particular time each day, center your attention daily on that which you would seek to produce that there may be energy and power given to it; that instruction may come from inner planes, for there is much that is attempted to be brought to this one for the purpose of the building.

Now as you seek to be of service, so shall more be given, for there is much on inner planes that would be given for this one, and we would continue to instruct.

We are through for now.
