

Forgiveness

July 4, 1973 Prophecy Reading

Editor's Note: This reading was given during the height of the Watergate controversy during the term of President Richard M. Nixon. It predicts that Nixon would resign from the Presidency four months before the actual fact and describes the need for forgiveness, prayer and healing.

Question: You will have before you the Fellowship of the Inner Light and our relationship to the United States and the relationship of the United States to the Universal Forces, giving those indications surrounding the President at this time through the end of July.

Answer: Now from these records we would have you.... look upon that man who is given responsibility for leadership in this nation. (And children, when such a teaching is given, expand beyond the single man or the single application. And know that these Laws be true in whatever circumstance of life.) ... You have called a man with a personality, a destiny, an individuality before a Great Host, a group of those who have incarnated together in a particular time for a particular purpose. And know that there is no man called to incarnation in this time, in this place, who is not here for a purpose, and his vibration, his personality, individuality, and that manner in which he would handle those situations of life or individual karma, form that vibration, that group which is the nation.

Now it would be an indictment upon each person who would point their finger toward that leader in this time, that they in ignorance should speak this way or that of him given such responsibility. For if you would understand Law, you will see that which has occurred in the life of a single man. For here came a man before that great group or that Host, Hosts of Hosts, of this nation, each thinking his individual thought. And each thought then, being a thing, a force, or a vibration, all of these were centered upon that seat in which he sits.

Now careful to understand this children, for that man upon whom you would rail and accuse and judge, is thine own creation.

And if you would understand the Law, could it be otherwise? And understand all nations upon your earth and see the head of every nation, and does not his personality, his action, reflect that thought of the entire group?

But see it work in this manner. That if you would take a group of people, bringing each together into interaction for a period of time, one with the others, so you would create a group aura or a group vibration, a group personality. And yes children, even a group soul. Now at the central part of that soul, there will come a nucleus or a personality that will individualize in the appearance of a single man.

So has there come that man about whom you ask this night. And is there a man among you who has not judged? And in your judging him, his weaknesses, his strength, what will you condemn but the personality of the nation that created this personality, this man, that which is seen as the man, the President of the United States?

Now understand further, if this one were to retain individuality, thus rejecting those vibrations, those descriptions, those thoughts sent forth toward him and entering his aura from so many millions of creative minds, even if it were possible that a man should be so strong as to reject those vibrations and not be affected thereby or changed, yet would those sending such thoughts toward him never see the individual, for there would be built around this one or about his aura, a shell which would be as a reflection or the collection of group thoughts surrounding him, and never would the public know that soul or that innermost being.

So it is with this man. That which you see, that which you judge, is that which you have created with your thoughts, those vibrations sent toward him. And why then would there be such judgment? But is not this man a representative of a cancer, a guilt of a nation? And so would not this nation as a body see at its head a growth, a malignance, that which it would not like, and would attempt to destroy, would attempt to assassinate, with their thoughts, their feeling, toward this malignant growth in their own body.

Now children, understand. The culmination of this assassination will come in a few days.

Now there would lie the responsibility here. We could read from this record and say it would occur thus and so. And could we say that for the betrayal of a close friend and for those negative thoughts, those accusations, those judgments of a nation, so will this man, this child, heap upon himself such sin of the world, such judgment of that nation he has attempted to lead, that he would destroy the physical life and go beyond.

Or could we rather say from these records that all indications are so, that all vibrations are here for such culmination, and the life could be lost from this plane on that date.

But children, you have been gathered here for the reason that such need not be so.

“If my people which are called by my name will humble themselves before me and seek my face, then will I judge this nation and protect her leader and her destiny.”

Now, if you would control that one set above this nation, that one who would reflect her attitudes and her being, then would you love him. For could you love this nation, her destiny, without loving that leader set before her. And there never has been nor will be that leader set at the head or at the center of a people, who would not reflect that which is the culmination of the karma of that people.

Then that which would occur in his life on that date will occur in the heart of the nation. And if it will occur in one, then would it affect all. For you would not amputate a malignancy from a body with affecting the health of the entire body.

But we see those occurrences culminating in this time at the ending of the third cycle of seven days of this, the seventh month.

Now on that third of seven days, twice three and seven, come then betrayal of those close about that Presidential office. And even the closest friend will turn the finger in accusation. So will the attempt, the appeal, be made before the public, in open public portrayal of the emotion for the crying out before the people. So will the man lay himself at their feet. There will be the admission of wrong and the resignation from office.

Now that which will occur on that time is in thy hands, and whether this one will retain the life beyond this date. For following the giving of such resignation, will come a period in which this one, the personality or the physical, that one operating under the influences of the stars or the natural influences, would attempt to end the life then, in suicide. Yet this need not be so.

Then center thy prayers upon this one that it should not come. For there can be redeeming factor following.

Now children, if you would understand that it is not the life of a single man weighed in the balance, but the nation. Then know that following that day there will be protests in those Halls of Judgment, in those halls wherein those laws of this land are formed, and in those halls there will be demand that the other or the successor be replaced with one of another party or another persuasion. So will riots begin in strife. So will anarchy be set up in the centers of this nation.

But that man rising up will be strong. And there will be the positive forces, for it is not only in this place that the warning is being given. But all who seek instruction concerning these matters are being informed and taught even this night. So that in Seven Centers throughout this nation are those gathered in this time experiencing or hearing, realizing that which is being taught you.

Now thou art one of the seven gathered in His name and commissioned here with that responsibility to send all that power that you have toward this man chosen. And know that he was and is karmically destined to correct that which he has done in the past in the leading of a nation. And well that he might rise above this situation, finishing that which he need do.

And if you would correct that which you need accomplish in your own life, then give toward him that love that will make possible the overcoming of those dark days.

Now children, if you would love him, if you would love this nation, then in this moment become him. And look about, look about on all that has been the attempt to build in this lifetime, and see those close about, and that structure that you have been careful in building. See it beginning to crumble about. And the closest, the best of friends - deserting. Even that great evangelist, that one with whom you have prayed and confessed, see him attempting discreetly to disassociate self so that you feel alone even from that one who led you before the Master Christ and told you of His name.

See further the mistakes that you have made, those things done wrong, the sins. And realizing that all is deserved, so is there the greater condemnation within you. So that all become too much to bear. Then see the self turning the eyes upward toward the Master, expecting condemnation or judgment from God. And see the smiling face of the Master as He would say, "Where are thine accusers?"

"Children, let him who be without sin or mistake cast the first stone. But love him whom I have set at the head of your nation. And love him so that he will overcome in great strength and represent that beauty at the heart of this nation. And see him correct that condition, seeing the forgiveness of the Christ. And if He would forgive, can you do less?

And would such an one who would come before the Master and asking forgiveness, and before the nation and asking forgiveness for that which he has done wrong, can there be a greater one set before you?

Then if you have condemned or ridicules, ask not God for the forgiveness for same. But ask him whom you have ridiculed. And replace that ridicule, that condemnation, that judgment, with love. (And in doing so,) so have you overcome.

And with that judgment that you judge him, so shall this nation be judged. And it shall be a sign unto you that if his life be taken, so is the beginning of the end for the nation.

But if his life be spared and he be brought again in dignity before the American people, so shall this nations stand before God and shall be that vehicle or that place for the setting up of that kingdom in this world.

As it has been written, "With what judgment ye judge, so shall ye be judged.
