Q-1. When I was seventeen years old, I was flashed with the beams from a UFO. I also saw the same object or something very similar to it. What is this object and what influences does it want to give me?

A-1. Yes, we have these records now brought before us, and have cast an eye as well into your memory to identify the experience of which you speak. We will consider it important, both to this one and to others, to understand some basic considerations of this unusual experience and its implications for those subjected to such an experience.

Understand first, that the craft, if it may be called that, should be considered an inter-dimensional craft rather than that sometimes thought of as a space craft, implying that such a ship or carrier has traveled over a great distance involving time and space. We would have you consider and understand instead that the possibility of such craft entering the atmosphere of the earth, even to enter into this solar system, has been made practical, but not by creating ships which travel at a very high velocity or speed. You must attempt to understand interstellar or intergalactic craft to travel time and space as artificial. They are points of reference for humankind to understand only vaguely the structure and even the nature of the universe.

Now the craft which you encountered should be considered an inter-dimensional craft as well as understanding it to operate on the principles of a holographic universe. That is to say that because each body or particle even including sub-atomic expressions of energy, all of these are holographic in nature. For that reason, the smallest and the largest imaginable structures of the universe carry within their very nature the hologram of the universe.

Those of other systems, whether star systems or galactic, or even parallel universes, those who have reached a point of understanding this holographic construction and the concept of inter-dimension understand it as the necessary step to overcome the extreme limitations of time and space that make so called space travel impractical.

These, then, of other systems who have studied and come to some level of awareness, and we must stress here that there are various levels of awareness, of beings of various systems, which have developed a craft capable of inter-dimensional travel so that it might be important to understand that some of the intelligent beings using such craft are very well intentioned. Others not so.

It should never be assumed that these creators of what you might see as a superior technology are not always beings of light in the sense that you would like them to be. You must also understand that some intelligent, creative beings who have developed such high technology as to produce inter-stellar and inter-dimensional craft are still not yet wise enough to use those craft in such a manner as to benefit all other living beings who might be encountered upon their travels.

Thus it is, that such craft as you encountered are often on a research mission. Please understand that our term research mission does strongly imply that the craft was in this dimension and in the position in which you encountered it for the purpose of learning and understanding more perfectly the living beings that populate this planet earth. For they have, even with such advanced technology, a need to understand the complexity of life forms on the various spheres of universal expression.

It may help to describe this solar system in this manner. On this particular planet, you have beings made of the substance of this planet. This particular world, this earth, brought forth its life by interaction between the liquid water, hydrogen and oxygen, combined with earth, soil and its nutrients, hydrogen, carbon based, which together in the presence of light, particularly, specifically the light of this star known as the sun, as these are combined in the presence of that particular light, a reaction takes place, first a chemical reaction referred to as photosynthesis. But within that chemical reaction enters the possibility of life manifesting itself in what is termed here a three-dimensional or more appropriately six dimensional reality. Then, as beings of this earth, gathering experience with senses created from the very substance upon which you walk, you have only that point of reference, using the physical senses to experience the material world and expecting upon visitation of other planets on this solar system, to find living beings made in a very similar fashion. And yet, other bodies within this solar system do not have the properties of this earth, this world, this planet.

You might as examples consider the influence of the greatest, largest of the planets of this system which you refer to by the ancient appellation of Jupiter. It has, as can be documented, an extremely strong magnetic field, and the exertion of such a field upon such a great material body produces living beings that to creatures of earth might be seen, might appear as extremely flat in the sense of one or two dimensional beings, as if they were simple circles, having no depth or height. Thus, very nearly impossible for those inhabiting a flesh material body to see or to interact with, for you are made under a completely different circumstance. So it is with other bodies, of Saturn, of Venus, of Mars. Of course they are inhabited by life, living beings. At the same time, those beings are not shaped of clay, for it is not clay and water in the presence of sunlight which are the active elements of those bodies.

On the expression of Venus, you might see what men before you have seen in visions. Some have referred to as salamanders, the spirits of fire. Of course this is the nature of life, living beings upon the surface inhabiting without and within that much less solid heavenly body.

Thus, those of earth who consider science must reach a point of understanding and awareness that the three dimensional, the physical collection of atoms gathered into molecules to make apparently solid particles, and from this, a material body, mankind and researchers must abandon the idea that living beings on other spheres are created in such a similar manner, for they are not. As a result, the eyes made of earth taken from clay and crystalline formations, such eyes see that made of similar substance under similar circumstances, and encountering other living beings often find these eyes completely incapable of discerning shape and form of beings encountered.

Now, we describe this in those words to point out to you that the dreams which you have had, that which you have thought of as dreams, were not in the truest sense dreams at all. They were experiences. They were experiences in which you had set aside the physical body and its physical senses to use a subtler body and subtler senses inherent to life itself, in order to travel inter-dimensionally and interact. You were able to do this only because the inter-dimensional craft which you describe as casting its beam of light on you, thus made contact with you. For that which such craft have in common with mankind and material expression in this solar system, that which such beings have in common with you is light and only light. Not the gases, liquids, solids and the structure of polarized energies, which in various combinations express as atoms, molecules, and the structure of materiality. Thus, is it possible that you might understand that the beam of light cast upon you was, and is, the most superior known form of communication co-extensive with the universe in this time.

Photons, quanta of light, are capable of carrying message, communications, capable of taking on electrical charge so that material might easily be formed from these quanta of light which have accepted positive and negative and neutral, electrical properties. The light that was cast upon you communicated within its quanta, its photons, ideas, inspirations, influences, which remain alive to this day within your consciousness in a form we will compare with the Akashic Record, for the Akasha is made of such a beam of light, as you refer to it. Quanta of creative substance, not yet energy, but rather what is a more appropriately called plasm or plasma. This is reference to a photo or quanta of light not yet charged with electricity.

This is the plasm of which the universe is built. The carrier of image and messages, an ultimate form of communication. Thus the beam of light cast upon you, within you, and around you communicated with your intelligence at every level, from super-conscious as it might be referred, highest consciousness, God consciousness, Universal Consciousness, from your highest form of awareness to the least, your storage consciousness, sometimes referred to as subconscious.

Not only was this beam of light, as you refer to it, a communication, it was also an information gathering device. You were studied by means of sending forth light in quanta and drawing it back again as light in charged units, photons with electrical charge. And written in the relationships between positive, negative and neutral or photons, positrons, neutrons, electrons, within such structure, were the holographic messages of the nature of your body its functions and the content of your mind at every level.

Thus you were subjected to a research experiment and in turn, you were left with vestiges of information imparted by those studying you. You were also left with the unavoidable bond, sometimes referred to as aca cord, so that in that experience of which you have some memory, only a partial memory, which is the nature of many of these inter-stellar and inter-dimensional research beings. They attempt to erase any memory of their contact with those they have chosen to study. It is considered by them a means of protection, protection which is intended to be of a non-offensive manner, a defense mechanism which is constructed in that particular manner so that a subject of these experiences carry insufficient memory and knowledge, awareness, to focus upon the presence of these inter-dimensional craft, in the belief among them, you see, that for as long as mankind has limited awareness of their presence and interaction with earth, they have a somewhat invisible screen of protection. Being undetected is considered by these brothers, co-inhabitants of the universe, to be a non-threatening form of self protection, a defense which they consider not offensive, not intrusive, nor evasive, invasive, not threatening in their intent.

However, it should also be known that when one such as yourself has been contacted by the communication, which occurred through that exchange of light, information, communication research, and a resultant aca cord, after being the subject of such contact, you are forever, that is throughout this lifetime, you are marked. You carry a mark which is a result of that contact and its remaining aca cord.

That marker quite often, not overstated to say almost always, has a profound effect upon emotion, upon the processes of the brain-mind, not such an influence on the Super Consciousness or the Higher Consciousness, but upon the material mind, produces some confusion with a common result that those so contacted and so studied often have what other beings of earth consider to be psychotic episodes, that is the influence causes some strange experiences difficult to believe, understand or communicate, some strange emotional experiences and expressions which researchers consider to be at least neurotic and often considered psychotic.

You have yourself suffered to some extent as a result of this marker to which we refer. Now, we attempt to assist you in dealing with this influence by helping you to the greatest possible extent to understand the influences which this experience has had on your life. It has produced some confusion, a misunderstanding of others, even some pain. It has also resulted in a fascination, for this is the other manifestation of such an aca cord.

Because you are bound throughout this lifetime by a silver cord to the inhabitant of the craft you encountered, you remembered them, feel a kinship with them and a great desire to remember more than you have been able to bring to your conscious mind. You have a burning desire to understand the nature of these who have made of you a brother in the strongest sense of that term. It is and perhaps always will be difficult for you to understand that others who have not had such an experience do not feel as brothers to such beings, for they have no such aca cord, no such binding influence or awareness of the presence of those you have encountered.

Thus you are one of a select number of people, not such a small number in consideration of the number of individuals who inhabit this earth at this time, almost one fourth of the population of this earth have had an experience quite similar to yours. And virtually all of them spend a great deal of time in their thought attempting to recover all memory of the incident, of the contact and communication with such brothers. From the perspective, the false perspective of space, brothers from very, very distant worlds, universes, galaxies, however distant they may seem to scientists such as astronomers, are very close to those who have an aca cord with them, for you are where they are. This is the nature of the holographic experience.

Now, because your science and technology of this day have not developed an understanding of such inter-dimensional reality, so it is also true that your science and technology have not provided in your language, words available to us to use for describing to you all that you would like to know of this experience. That is unfortunate, unfortunate only in the sense that it restricts our ability to describe further to you in verbal means, an expression of words, the production of vibration of a thin membrane in the throat shaped by the instruments of vocalization into a code or what you call a language uttered by using vibrational sound. We are not limited however, in our ability to communicate with your heart, your mind, and most specifically with your dreamtime.

We use the word dreamtime in the manner of the aboriginal peoples, who know the dimension dreamtime to be a greater reality than the manipulated substance of earth, which provides a physical, material body and communicates only such things as material, physical expression can process with language. Thus we ask you to dedicate some of your time each evening, each time you prepare yourself for sleep, we ask that you use an ascending form on meditation. Now by ascending form we refer to such forms of meditation as are constructed after the fashion of the bardo planes spoken of in the Tibetan Book of Life, referred to more commonly as the Tibetan Book of the Dead and its companion work, the Egyptian Book of the Dead. And another example of ascending meditation is that of kundalini yoga, and the Seven Gardens of the Inner Light Consciousness meditation. We refer to these forms for the purpose of assisting you to enter your sleep consciously. Do, to the extent that you can understand, know that it is not necessary to lose consciousness to enter into sleep and dream time. Then, begin to build within your consciousness an awareness of the possibility of conscious sleep and conscious dreaming, which results in lucid dream states. Accomplish this by first accessing Profound Relaxation while maintaining consciousness. At the same time, separating your sense of reality from your experience of the body.

Learn then to enter sleep in that state of consciousness and you will have entered into the inter-dimensional separate reality, in which we, those referred to as the Great Cloud of Witnesses, reside. Also those who have joined us in inter-dimensional reality, some of whom have been at one time or another incarnate upon your world, or another of the planets of this solar system, in addition to those of us who speak with you who have never taken on a physical body, but have remained an expression of the body of the Source of light and life resulting in this Universe.

Then, as you commit yourself and sanctify yourself to walking with us, we will attempt to sort out your understanding, your memory, and your responsibility as well, as one of those who have been in contact with inter-dimensional craft. Understand please, that such contact is not necessarily a part of the universal plan for conscious evolution of mankind.

It may be considered an aberration, but the contact has happened and so many who are incarnate on your earth at this time have incarnated on this planet only because they have projected here on just such an inter-dimensional beam of light as you encountered. So the earth is to some extent populated by beings who originated their awareness or consciousness in a different sphere, a different universe or galaxy. Not to suggest that they are less earth beings than others born of clay, not to suggest that there is a great difference between those who first experienced life in what you would call a distant, a far distant reality, not so much difference between those, and those who originated consciousness in this solar system, except that those who originated in other stellar systems have distant memories of such experience and are fascinated, naturally, with such concepts and have a deep longing in the heart, as you have, to recreate such craft as you have known.

You have a compulsion, almost an obsession, to remembering and re-designing such inter-dimensional craft as allowed you to enter into experiencing life on earth, but which has given your soul a fondest memory of home that is, in a sense, a longing for the point of origin of self as a conscious being. And we do, of course understand, for we have encountered it often, and do not discourage you at all from your pursuit of both understanding, remembering, and contributing to the development or recovery of the technology necessary for re-designing, building, manifesting such craft.

We would then, in response to all of your questions, make some pledge of responsibility of this channel through whom we speak, and others of this family, to help you become aware of the work of such others attempting, drawn to the same calling as you feel in your heart. The work of such as the one who called himself Rho Sigma, and of T. Galin Hieronymous, those who have made some inroads into the recreation and demonstration of, for lack of a better term, anti-gravity devices and magnetic ships and even the ships of the so-called hyper-space and the institute dedicated to the concept of hyper-space, and ask that you do what you can to avail yourself of understanding of what was called the Philadelphia Experiment and other such attempts to develop inter-dimensional craft.

We would seek to serve your interests as best we can through this channel as a source of contact with others of common interest, to the extent that that can be accomplished, given challenges of language and other hindrances to full communication between those with common interest and common bond. Most importantly perhaps, we will suggest you contact and communication with Ray Stanford, who has collected much information regarding such contacts as you have experienced and even that sometimes referred to as the kidnapping of individuals of this earth by research craft of inter-stellar and inter-dimensional activity. All of these so that you might better understand your own experience and also that you might go beyond it to understand the Source of all life and reality, of the very protons used to communicate with you and to build a bond with you. It is that Source to whom you must dedicate yourself for the purpose of avoiding being lead astray by forces not committed to light and love, but who are somewhat interested, often in a twisted way, in such craft as you have experienced.

Now we have given a great deal of the time available for your requested audience with us to the discussion of this one experience, but we have done so because this experience has so influenced all other areas of your life that it does represent your life work and challenge, and also that we might be of the greatest help possible in completely understanding and calling to clear memory your early experience of distant memory, and contact with those with whom you have become a brother.

Now, other questions which might seem less related to this particular experience.

Q-2. For the past three years, I have been feeling something in my head and I have been losing my hair and my eyesight and my memory is decreasing. I am also depressed about losing weight even though I can eat. What is the reason for it? Please tell me how to cure it.

A-2. Yes, you speak of more than one condition. These are not all a part of a single manifestation within your body. Let us deal initially with the continuing loss of weight in spite of taking nutrients. You have contracted for some time now a presence of parasitical organisms within your digestive and eliminative system. It will require a somewhat sophisticated laboratory to diagnose and help you understand the nature of the parasitic organisms and to prescribe appropriately a parasiticide specific to that nature of that which is absorbing to too great an extent the nourishment meant for your body. Now, this is not as uncommon as you might have thought. It is important that you disengage such forces from your body and that you also understand that such occurrences happen within the body physical to help consciousness understand the possible relationships between mankind and this mother earth, for mankind is either the expression of parasitic relationship with the earth or the expression of a symbiotic relationship. Thus you have experienced in the physical a message important to be passed to those who are concerned with environment and relationship with healing of this earth.

Now to say that this condition is completely separate from the early experience we have commented extensively about would be incorrect. It is related. It is related in this manner. Those who have come to this earth from other systems have an important responsibility and opportunity to choose an appropriate relationship with this earth, and to assist those who have had limited experience from spheres greater than this earth, to understand the nature of their relationship and their responsibility with the earth. Thus there are physical, mental and spiritual reasons that you have contracted an unpleasant physical manifestation, and yet it is not so very difficult to eliminate. It will require some change in diet particularly following the use of parasiticide so that you make yourself immune to the greatest possible extent to recurrence of such phenomena.

Now as to that of the experience with head, hair, and even with eyesight, we must ask you to understand and accept this as well as you can. You have so attempted to lift your consciousness beyond the limitation of the physical, material body and its senses and functions, that to a very great extent, consciousness within you has rather deliberately dimmed the eyesight as a strong suggestion or means of encouragement to give greater credence and application of what is sometimes called second sight, or the sight of the higher mind, the sight of perception even beyond that of what some call the third eye. Now do, of course, do all that you can to restore the eyesight, including extensive eye exercises and the use of such orthomolecular therapy as helps rebuild eyesight, specifically taking the uppermost portion of the vegetable carrot. That portion out of which the green stems and leaves join with the root, that uppermost portion, though not the stems and leaves themselves. That contains the most concentrated presence of the vitamin, the substance necessary for assisting in the rebuilding of sight.

Now in addition to that, moving to the somewhat loss of short-term memory and to an extent the shutting down of distant memory. Now these come from similar Sources. From the original contact with the craft there was an attempt to dim your memory in what we have referred to as a defensive action. Now in your meditation and in your time of preparing for sleep and even during sleep, deliberately communicate with the brothers of the beam of light. You may address them in that term, referring to yourself, ³My brothers of the beam of light, I ask you to restore my far distant memory of you and your contact, assuring you that I will be of no threat to your existence and your interaction with me.²

What you have perhaps little awareness of is that you have been both contacted and caught up into that self same craft more than once. Many times you have visited, you have communicated with, and participated in experimentation with them. Now much of this has been erased from your memory.

Now, as to more short term memory in this dimension, feed your memory upon the B Vitamin complex with specific attention to niacin, nicotinic acid, B6, B10 and B12. These taken in more or less megadoses along with the entire spectrum of the B Vitamin Family will do far more than you might ever have imagined to restore the sharpness of your keen sense of memory.

As to the impulses in the head, the loss of hair, give that no consideration. It is a result of the electrical stimulus occurring between the crown and the beam of light, the photons of your connection or aca cord with those communicating through the craft. Hair is a form of antennae and exposed to such intense energy often burns itself and decreases its presence. This does not mean that it threatens the effectiveness of your communication. Rather, it simply indicates the intensity of the use of said antennae, the hair. Has been of sufficient velocity or sufficient magnitude to have used up the elements of reception of your hair. Be not concerned with this, for your attempts to restore, should you make such attempts, will hinder your ability to learn and to grow, and to maintain contact, you see.

So we believe that you will consider that creativity more important than the loss.

Shall we continue then?

Q-6. When will I marry?

A-6. This is not so great a problem as might be seen at this moment. We advise you concerning such relationship in this way. In the very immediate future, in this culture, in this society, the manner in which relationships are formed, the changing of cultural attitudes toward these relationships changes sufficiently, even in the coming two years, to open much greater possibilities for the most appropriate marriage and formation of a partnership.

Do not pursue it under the immediately current social conditions. First, give greatest concern to your own personal development. Commit yourself, to the greatest possible extent, to the work you are here to do. Engage yourself with those of this family and research body, share with those of a common interest your search for instruments, both ancient, of a time of Alta, and more than modern, futuristic. Apply yourself to this. The partnership will come through it.

It is advisable to give no more consideration to this for now than to know that it comes from within your commitment to the work you are preparing to do. Now we trust that this is sufficient for inspiration, for guidance and for direction. Those in these dimensions, some of whom have been engaged in your dimension in the search for just such a craft as you have begun to relate with, these stand ready to assist and to influence you.

Learn as best you can the methods we have described for entering conscious sleep and lucid dreaming, and to the extent possible make arrangements for a further study and discussion of this with the channel in his conscious state, for there is much that he can provide and share with you concerning these methods and techniques from earlier communications we have read from these records.

Now we must go for now and close these records. We are through.
